TRAILER BALL

Stinson®

A trailer is helpful for many reasons. Not only is it an excellent asset for moving, but people also use trailers to haul recreational vehicles, appliances, and lawn care tools. However, towing a trailer isn't as simple as it sounds because there are many steps in the process. One of the most important and overlooked aspects to consider when using a trailer is your hitch ball size.

The hitch ball serves as the connection point between your truck and your trailer coupler. The attachment pivots the trailer and allows for a smoother turning experience.

TIE-DOWN STRAP RATCHET STRAP WITH CHAIN HEAVY DUTY*Stinson®

This ratchet strap comes with chains, or S-hooks. The end-fitting you need depends on the type of anchor points on the floor or walls of your truck. Ratchet cargo straps can tie down a load by securing it to the floor of a flatbed truck. They can also be used to tie down and secure a piece of cargo to the sides of the interior of an enclosed trailer. It can connect to anchor points in the side of a flatbed truck, like D-rings, and can also latch onto anchor points on the floor of the truck bed for easy tightening!

FLAT BUNGEE STRETCH CORD

The double wire steel 'J' hooks are coated to prevent scratches. Double J-Hooks are generally preferred over S-Hooks for securing heavier cargo as they lie at a 90-degree angle to the plane of the strap, which provides for a direct connection to anchoring points and a flat strap surface area across cargo, preventing strap twist.
